Rather than a typical comprehension check, this unit has 2 cause and effect worksheets that review events from the story.

How many mice do you see?

How many snowmen do you see?

How many snowflakes do you see?

How many movie tickets do you see?

To review some basic math skills, there is a coloring and counting booklet. Students can write in the numbers or cut and paste the numbers provided.

The mouse is  the tree.

Prepositions are another good skill to practice as a warm up activity. Students glue the mouse in the circle and then choose the correct preposition to place in the square.

Sort the pictures into the correct column depending on the season.
